

Woman in Need Helps Others in Distress

"Last year you helped me out. This year I would like to help you."
That is what 69-year-old Mrs. Mary Smith, 1164 Esquimalt Road, phoned to tell the Colonist's 500 Fund yesterday.
She said she would make some rag dolls and refurbish some old teddy bears to be auctioned at the 500 Christmas Fund at Maynard's auction rooms starting at 7.30 p.m., Dec. 20.

Mrs. Smith said she was still struggling to get along on her meagre income, but she wanted to help some who may even be less fortunate.
And her toys will be welcome at the auction. Maynard's reported yesterday that toys were coming in slowly. There have been a few for commission sales, but not many outright donations. "We need many more and we need them as soon as possible," floor manager Stanley Parker said.

All toys should be sent to Maynard's auction rooms and should be marked "500 Christmas Fund Outright Donation," or "500 Christmas Fund, Commission." The fund will only get the commission on those marked to be auctioned that way.
Cash donations yesterday went over the $1,000 mark assuring each of the lower Island's most needy families at least $2 at Christmas.

Donations are deductible for income tax purposes and should be mailed to the 500 Christmas Fund, 2631 Douglas Street, or taken to the Colonist office at the same address, or the downtown business office at 1215 Broad Street.

Baffled Police Dog Bites Own Sergeant

VANCOUVER (CP)—Chief Constable George Archer wants three more dogs, each with its own master.
The chief said the two dogs now on the force are handled by many officers and have no individual masters.
"They don't know who to bite, the sergeant or the hoodlum," he said, noting that one sergeant had been bitten.

B.C. SELLS OIL, GAS RIGHTS TO 2,000,000 PEACE ACRES

Treasury Earns Millions

By ALEC MERRIMAN

The B.C. department of mines yesterday sold oil and natural gas exploration rights to more than 2,000,000 acres of wildcat land in the northern Peace River country.

It was the biggest oil acreage sale in the history of the province and from it $3,629,218.25 in fees, rents and bonuses will go directly into the provincial treasury.

MAJOR BIDDER
Shell Oil Company of Canada Ltd. was the major bidder with successful bids on 11 parcels of land.

Two newcomers to British Columbia who made successful bids were the Sohio Petroleum Company and Tennessee Gas Transmission Company.

Other successful bidders included Pacific Petroleum, Sinclair Oil Company, Richfield Oil Co., Mobile Oil Company, Pan American Petroleum Company, Hudson Bay Oil Company and Sun Oil Co.

KIERNAN PLEASED
Mines Minister Kenneth Kiernan last night said he was "exceptionally well pleased with the interest shown by new companies seeking to enter the petroleum and natural gas field in British Columbia."

He said it "looks like a major effort on the part of Shell Oil Company of Canada Ltd." He said the Shell Oil area is in wild country near the Yukon border in the northwest section of the Peace River.

"The Shell Oil bids would indicate that they have more knowledge of the area," Mr. Kiernan said. He described the area as "wildcat acreage where little or no oil exploration has been carried out."

Sale included 31 parcels of land ranging from 2,000 to 112,000 acres and included 6 to 7 per cent of the 34,000,000-acre Peace River territory.

RESERVE REMAINS
Mr. Kiernan said the province has retained crown areas between the exploration parcels, so if there are favorable results a good crown reserve remains.

The oil companies paid $102,134.75 in rents and $7,750 in fees.

The $3,519,333.48 paid in bonuses gives the companies eight-year firm exploration rights, plus three more years they can apply for.

60 PER CENT
At expiration of exploration period the companies have the right to obtain a lease of 60 per cent of the land under exploration permit.

Apart from the exploration leases, three drilling reservations were granted. Two firms have 12 months to dig a well and one has 18 months to drill. They are entitled to lease 50 per cent of the drilling reservation and the remaining 50 per cent reverts to the province.

Mr. Kiernan said the sale resulted in "the biggest return... the most interest shown... the most acreage involved and the biggest variety of firms making bids."

The northeastern tip of British Columbia is one of the few areas in the western Canadian oil zone where fairly large tracts of land are still available.

Family of Nine Desperate After Fire

Desperately needing food, clothing and another place to live, the Van Nes family was burned out of its Oak Bay Avenue home yesterday. Given shelter in a neighbor's home, while the father L. E. Van Nes was searching for other quarters, are,

Bombs Shoo Sons

KRESTOVA, B.C. (CP)—RCMP used tear gas bombs Thursday to disperse 400 adult Sons of Freedom Doukhobors—many of them elderly and all wearing their best clothes—as they started on a 53-mile march from here to New Denver to celebrate Messiah Day, the 57th birthday of their spiritual leader in Uruguay, Stefan Sorokin.

Four cartridges of tear bombs were fired close to the group as they knelt in the snow and prayed near the Crescent Valley bridge after police had told them to disperse.

"They can walk to New Denver any time they feel like it," said a police official in Nelson, "but not in a group that covers the highway."

Reds Split West

(From CP, AP and UPI)

Initial reaction to yesterday's Soviet "take it or leave it" offer to the West on Berlin appears to have caught the western powers off balance and caused a possible policy split between the U.S. and Britain.

Russia's Premier Nikita Khrushchev announced in Moscow a proposal to set up West Berlin as a "demilitarized free city" and gave the West six months to accept or see the plan put into effect by the Soviet Union and East Germany alone.

He said the proposal was not an ultimatum but a move designed to remove a "cancerous growth" that threatens world peace.

Washington hurried to ally West Berlin fears with a state department warning that the U.S. will never agree to any Russian proposal which would abandon the people of free West Berlin to what it called "hostile domination" by Communists.

The statement, issued with State Secretary Dulles' approval, was seen as a prelude to an allied rejection of the Soviet offer. This was expected to come following consultations between Britain, France, the United States and West Germany.

West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt denounced the plan yesterday in a broadcast. He called Khrushchev's move a "bold Communist power grab" and said it would put the entire city at the mercy of the Reds.

"We in West Berlin say no... we are not afraid," he shouted defiantly.
He told his listeners that he will fly to Washington to discuss the situation.

Borrowed Suit to Meet Queen

Nixon's Tux Didn't Fit

LONDON (AP)—Vice president Richard Nixon, wearing borrowed evening dress that did not fit, entered the Queen and the cream of London society Thursday night at a Thanksgiving Day dinner in the American Embassy.

"I'll never let anybody else pack Richard's clothes again," his wife, Patricia, told a reporter.

Nixon looked uncomfortable as he went to the door to greet his guests. He shifted restlessly inside the jacket he borrowed from a friend.

As he welcomed the Queen he tugged at his sleeves, which were nearly an inch too long, and at his coat tails, which hung too low.

The jacket bagged in front. But the Queen did not notice—or at least if she did she was too gracious to let Nixon know.

For 45 minutes before the Queen arrived there was chaos in the residence.

Nixon's valet, Dave Ball, reached for the vice-president's formal wear—and it wasn't there.

"Somebody in Washington a week ago forgot to pack it," Mrs. Nixon said.

"And it wasn't me."
"This is the first trip he ever went on that I didn't pack for him. It will never happen again."

If Victoria and Saanich do amalgamate, will the name Saanich just disappear?

No answer to this problem was forthcoming at last night's public forum on the amalgamation issue.

But it did produce some interesting suggestions for a suitably "amalgamated" name—among them Vic-nich and Sic-toria.

150 HEAR VIEWS

A crowd of 150 turned out to hear the views of panel members, Saanich Coun. Charles Nelles, in favor, and Hugh Stephen and Kenneth Genn, against. Many in the audience were members of the sponsoring body, the local branch of Community Planning Association of Canada.

Dr. John Deutsch, chairman of the amalgamation study committee, outlined the main recommendations of the report which favors amalgamation of the two municipalities.

FIRST SPEAKER

First speaker for the panel was Mr. Stephen. He said he was satisfied the present system of inter-municipal co-operation was providing satisfactory solutions to "our life and death problems." He warned against seeking after bigness.

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

A CONTINENTAL model is advertised as "the ideal third car; the essential second car."

Essential? It would do us a lot of good if some wise revolutionary exploded a special kind of bomb which killed nobody, but only stripped away all our goods.

Then people would soon find out what was essential and what was frivolous.

Standing naked in the cold wind, they would start looking for food, clothes and shelter. If there happened to be a Jaguar or Cadillac parked with an empty gas tank, it might do to sleep in.

That's how essential a car is. And yet, so complicated is our apparatus of civilization, that we have allowed ourselves to reach a state of mind in which a salesman can say, with some hope of being believed, that a second car is something that no family can live without.

At the same time these foolish claims were being made, peasants in Asia were scratching in postage-stamp plots of soil to grow enough rice to feed themselves. Many weren't making it. Many did not have access to any soil or any food, and therefore they starved.

There are hundreds of thousands of people in the world to whom a small rented house and garden would be luxuries. Millions go through all their lives without saving the price of a bicycle.

These people would be puzzled to hear a harangue from a salesman on the vital need for two cars.

However, North America is a rich continent. What should be done—renounce worldly wealth en masse and retire to monasteries?

No. The resources are there to use. But couldn't we be cautious? Are we tied to an economic machine that feeds on waste and luxury—a system that forces us to make more cars so we can have more money to spend on more cars... and where does it all end? What purpose is there to it?

Suppose we arrive at the day when every member of the family from grandfather to baby has his own car. Will we be any happier?

Meanwhile, millions of the world's underprivileged in China are working together with an almost religious zeal to build a strong nation.

To us their methods are savage and inhuman. But they seem to believe in what they are doing. What do we believe in, and what is our goal? Six cars for every family?

Communists, for all the ugly features of their creed, are working for something larger than their individual selves. They are working for the "people" or the "state." Anyway, that is the ideal set up for them, and many of them apparently believe it. We, on the other hand, are each working for our individual comfort.

Unless we can find something outside ourselves to work for, there is danger that the Communists will swallow us up. I don't know what our common cause could be. Launching a big scientific and industrial plan to develop our northland? Sending out teams of experts to help poor countries? A new religious revival?

If we don't find something bigger than ourselves to work for, and if we waste our strength in the pursuit of selfish luxury, we may lose our freedom.

City Only Asking Merger Opinion

The amalgamation vote in Victoria city Dec. 11 will be solely an expression of opinion, and will not empower council to complete the union of Victoria with Saanich.

This point was made clear by city council yesterday when it removed from its referendum bylaw all mention of a Municipal Act provision governing it.

Depending on a decision tonight, the vote in Saanich may be on the same basis, a simple majority voting in favor of amalgamation giving council a mandate to proceed with negotiation of the actual terms of union, but obliging it to obtain the assent of property owners to union on those terms.

Like Saanich, Victoria until yesterday planned a plebiscite under Section 25 of the Municipal Act, in which a favorable vote of 60 per cent of the owner-electors voting could be taken as authorization to proceed with amalgamation after negotiating the terms of union.

City council discussed switching to Section 210, which provides for obtaining the opinion of the electors on a question, but finally decided to eliminate the reference to any section.

In Saanich, a special meeting of council was called for 5 p.m. today to discuss the matter.

Coun. Charles Nelles, strongly in favor of amalgamation, said he intended moving that the question be put to voters under Section 210.

The excellent Deutsch report recommended negotiations on several major subjects, such as the handling of debts, he said. "Voters should be able to see the plans and specifications for the new Greater Victoria before they let the contract."

Finance Committee Overruled

Watchdog Leashed

Manager Won't Be 'Censor' Of Money-Raising Proposals

City council shied away yesterday from a finance committee plan that would have made City Manager C. C. Wyatt censor of all money-raising proposals.

The committee recommended that council set a policy that "no submission shall be made to the committees of city council wherein it is proposed that moneys required shall be provided by the issuance of debentures, from the tax sale lands reserve, or from any other special reserve without being first reported upon by the municipal manager."

"There must be some special reason for this recommendation," said Ald. Elmer McEwen. "Has someone over-spent some funds?" Finance chairman Ald. Arthur Dowell said it was only right that the compiler should have foreknowledge of such submissions. Public works committee had asked the city manager for an off-street parking program financing plan and hadn't got it, Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow said, and therefore had asked the city engineer for an overall plan including financing which the engineer had produced.

"I will ask department heads anything, and if the city manager doesn't know about it, I'm amazed," he said.

Mr. Wyatt told council every money bylaw had to be referred to the inspector of municipalities, and he wanted to be able to report to council that all considerations had been taken into account when council.

"It's purely a matter of expediting things intelligently," he said.

150 Hear Debate On Amalgamation

Continued from Page 1 for its own sake. He said the "dry rot of democracy" starts at the level of local government, where the trend towards big government means "the slow and gradual removal of the citizen from responsibility of what's happening around him."

STULTIFICATION Coun. Nelles urged listeners to become "evangelists for Greater Victoria." The affairs of Greater Victoria are in a state of stultification at present, he said, and amalgamation is the breakthrough to a renewed period of growth. He said the move would result in a reduction of seven elected members of the amalgamated council, reducing charges of "big government."

Mr. Genn said he did not favor amalgamation. If we must have it, he said it must not be just because Victoria must expand, or Saanich can't meet future tax bills. It must be to the mutual benefit. "It is a strange feeling to think that Saanich is bowing out so that Victoria can have a place to expand," he said.

TOWN ON VOLGA It was this last remark, by Mr. Genn, which prompted a member of the audience to send up his written suggestions for a name which would "incorporate the best features in both."

Moderator Stuart Keate, publisher of the Times, read them out amid laughter from the audience. "The first name here, Vichnich, sounds like a town on the Volga," he said. Other suggested names were Saa-victoria-ichia, Vic-a-saanich and Sictoria.

PRACTICAL TALKS Dr. Deutsch said if the vote Dec. 11 is in favor of amalgamation there should follow a great deal of further discussions between the two councils. These talks would embrace "very many" practical matters still to be worked out, including combination of the civil service, hundreds of bylaws, and such questions as whether the debts outstanding in both municipalities should be pooled.

"Only after these discussions can you tell exactly what are the financial implications," said Dr. Deutsch. "Result may differ from the conclusions in the report."

Mr. Stephen said personally he was "profoundly sceptical" about the efficiency of the larger unit. "Remember, size in itself is not always a guarantee of efficiency." Referring to the high degree of inter-municipal co-operation, he listed its achievements over the past 10 years:

Four municipal advisory planning boards, a "respected" capital region development board, permanent planning staffs, "even a reeve (Reeve George Chatterton, Saanich) who confesses his chief problem is urban sprawl."

Mr. Stephen added: "I can remember the time, not too many years ago, when our chief problem was a steamship service to San Francisco. When urban sprawl comes up, who is likely to do something about it, the Saanich man, the man on the spot?"

Coun. Nelles said he feels there is a question of whether Victoria will accept amalgamation with Saanich. "During the past few weeks every charge in the book has been thrown at the city. That she is bankrupt, the city is run by a downtown clique that is trying to force race tracks on the suburbs, and has designs to keep the working man out of public office."

CAN MATCH THEM "Saanich council can match most of these failings. I can assure you, but delicacy forbids me at this time."

Mr. Genn said having one fire department after amalgamation would not cut down on the amount of fireballs or personnel. "It would probably work out that one fire chief would be eliminated and in his place we would have to have a deputy chief who would probably want more salary than the present chief is getting. Same with the police."

OTHERS SHY He added: "I didn't notice a rush for Oak Bay and Esquimalt to get into the act (amalgamation). This makes me a little suspicious."

Dr. Deutsch said he had a good deal of sympathy with those like Mr. Stephen who seek the advantages of local government but the "difficulty is that circumstances change all the time."

"Most municipal boundaries belong to the horse and buggy days, before we had motor cars, telephones and electricity. The real root of our difficulty is that what was local at one time is no longer local today."

"We have got to get together and solve our problems together. We will never solve them individually."

Leader To Try Again

De Gaulle Off To Algeria

PARIS (UPI) — Premier Charles de Gaulle announced yesterday that he will take a five-day trip to Algeria and the Sahara in a new effort to bring peace to North Africa in the wake of his sweeping election victory.

His office said that the premier will fly to the troubled Algerian region on Dec. 3 on his fourth peace-making trip since he was lifted to power last June following massive unrest there.

One of the things De Gaulle pledged himself to do under the six months' emergency powers granted him June 2 by the last parliament of the now-dead fourth republic was to end the Algerian conflict, which has bled France white for four years.

So far, his efforts have failed. He also has failed to get real representatives of the Algerian Moslems to stand for election to the new French National Assembly set up under a revised constitution which he sponsored.

The list of candidates for the 44 Moslem seats in the second part of the general elections this weekend are made up almost entirely of known pro-French Moslems. These are not the truly "representative" Moslems with whom De Gaulle had hoped to negotiate a peace settlement.

Consult NATO — Pearson

TORONTO (UPI) — Opposition Leader Lester Pearson said yesterday that all members of NATO should be consulted before any action was taken against Russia's attempts to eliminate Western responsibilities in Berlin.

Pearson, in an address to the Empire Club of Canada, said that in the last blockade of Berlin, "Decisions were made without consulting other nations, but the circumstances have changed and before any step is taken by any or all of the three members of NATO who have treaty rights in Berlin, all other members of the alliance should be fully consulted."

He added: "Once a decision has been reached, it would be impossible for any member of NATO to resist the obligations of the organization."

'Joyriders' Are Thieves

LAST month in Victoria city alone 32 cars were stolen from their owners for varying periods. We say stolen because it is sheer nonsense to employ the wishy-washy euphemism "taken without their owners' consent." The man or youth who takes someone else's property, whether it be his car or his wallet, is a thief and should be sentenced as such—not as if he had done something just a little bit naughty. Anyone who deliberately steals a car—and there is no other way of doing it—richly deserves the public disgrace which a recorded conviction for theft carries.

This being an island, the owner of a stolen car ultimately gets it back—but in what condition? More often than not after it has been smashed; and while insurance may cover the damage, the value of a car that has been wrecked is permanently depreciated no matter how well repaired. Even if the owner is lucky enough to get his vehicle back without visible damage, it may never be the same again. There is the hidden damage due to rough and improper handling which shows up eventually in repair bills—when it is too late for the owner to get compensation from anyone.

On top of this there is the inconvenience, the loss of time reporting the theft and making statements to the police; the tedious interviews with insurance adjusters and the forms that have to be filled; the long wait for the car to come back from the repair shop. Finally, there is the galling knowledge for the owner that what he is left with is a car that someone else has mistreated and possibly wrecked—a car for which he paid two or three thousand dollars.

Then when the hoodlum who stole it is apprehended—and only a few of them are—the court lets him off with a relatively small fine as if all he had been guilty of was a youthful prank. It is small wonder that the Victoria police commission—with reports before it of 32 cars stolen in a single month—is concerned over the lack of deterrent value in these too-lenient sentences. In addition to the damage suffered by owners, there is the heavy cost of police work often involving days and weeks of patient investigation at public expense.

Police commissions cannot instruct the courts in matters of this sort. It is their duty, however, to administer the police work of the city, and the courts would be well advised to listen to what they have to say in this instance.

The Way Out

AS seemed to be foreshadowed the federal government has approved the freight rate increase sought by the transcontinental railways. Hon. Howard Green, as acting prime minister, said quite candidly this step was taken to avoid a strike by the non-operating unions that would have tied up railway transportation. The desire to avert a strike at all costs, short of restrictive legislation, is commendable enough; but it means that provincial protests have been ignored and relates wages to freight rates when these should be separately treated.

It is true Mr. Green indicated that future wage disputes should be settled by the railways before they ask the transport board for freight increases, but a precedent has been set that will be tempting to follow. It will not be mere coincidence if a repetition develops when next the railways and the unions discuss contracts. Settlement on this basis promises too ready a form of conciliation, which in essence is what the government's decision is. The government turned down the suggestion of the provinces that a federal subsidy should cover wage increases. This would be a dangerous practice, since as Mr. Green pointed out every other wage group would seize on such a comforting solution to their disputes. Yet in the long run the current railways' settlement will be subsidized in the form of higher prices paid by the same taxpayers who would underwrite a subsidy drain on the federal purse. In this respect it is much a case of six of one and half a dozen of another.

Mr. Green said further that a special cabinet committee has been set up to study the whole question of freight rates and allied rail problems. That is well and good, except that a cabinet committee does not have the time for the kind of intensive investigation and study required. A special body should be set up to do the job, to inquire for instance why the railways cannot keep their heads above water with seven rate increases since the war and yet another application pending. Wage increases alone cannot be the cause of continuous deficits.

Roadwork in Rossland-Trail

TENDERS for construction of five miles of new roadway along the southern transprovincial highway in the Salmo-Creston area were called by the provincial department of highways yesterday, the bids to be returnable on Dec. 9. Meanwhile nominations in the Rossland-Trail by-election are due Dec. 8 and polling will follow on Dec. 15. One does not doubt that the construction is needed, but is it merely coincidence that tenders should be sought in mid-winter and while the contested by-election campaign will be on?

A week ago Attorney-General Bonner said that the electors of Rossland-Trail were well satisfied with road projects allotted to that constituency. It may be that Mr. Gaglardi, as minister of highways, has been mapping out road projects that could proceed this winter as a form of work relief and this project would have proceeded anyway. It appears, however, to have been the first announced new project for the month of December.

In the last analysis, it will not be the administration's roadwork so much as its footwork that is likely to be reviewed by opposition groups during the course of the by-election. The making of roads has nothing to do with the administration of forest management licences. Nor has it any connection with future policy for the development of hydroelectric power in the province. Yet it is on these precise issues that the electors of the province will be looking for some plain answers from Premier Bennett and his colleagues than they have received yet. The electoral vacancy itself was created by the resignation of a former member of the cabinet, for cause.

Interpreting the News

Algerian Future Puzzling

By JOSEPH MacSWEEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

ALTHOUGH the French elections represent another smashing personal victory for Premier de Gaulle, they may spell bad news for his hopes of ending the Algerian war.

The de Gaulle landslide that sent the Communist party reeling may in a sense result in an embarrassment of political riches for the general.

De Gaulle, of course, was not directly involved in the campaign—the presidential election comes later—and he explicitly forbade his name to be used by any party. But the voters showered their favor on those candidates supporting him.

It's apparent that the new French Assembly, when it finally is convened, will have a rightist character, including possibly an absolute majority of de Gaulle supporters.

But many of these deputies are more adamant than de Gaulle on the Algerian question. They stand for "integration" of Algeria, making it virtually a province of France.

De Gaulle, while cautious in his political promises, has indicated he has in mind a more moderate solution, closer to the hopes of the rebels. His attitude might lead to internal self-government for the North African territory within the French community of nations that he has created, and in federation with Tunisia and Morocco, both former French colonies.

Actually, only 42 of the 465 seats were filled in Sunday's elections, in which an overall majority was required for victory. This left nearly 500 seats still to be decided, including those in Algeria, in the second round of balloting next Sunday.

The Communist party lost more than 1,500,000 votes, a drop of about 26 per cent from 1956 when it polled a total of 5,454,598.

Ships of Pacific Command Second Canadian Escort Squadron formed this pattern as they took station to provide an escort for Governor-General Massey during his visit to the west coast. They are the destroyer-escorts Athabaskan, Fraser, Skeena, Margaree and Cayuga.

Thinking Aloud

... of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

I HAD only been in Canada a few months when I acted as poll clerk—something that still fills me with astonishment—in the 1921 election which saw William Lyon Mackenzie King begin the first of his series of premier-ships. In an abstract sort of way I was an instrument of his destiny.

That was as close as I ever came to him, but of course like other Canadian citizens I absorbed his patina through the years. That was inevitable for he dominated the political life of this nation for long and is numbered among its makers.

Scholarly dull though its prose may be, therefore, the first volume of the King biography is intensely interesting, because of the man, his ambition, and his character. The latter easily outweighs other facets of his career.

As a stuffy, serious-minded boy he was patently the antithesis of the teenager of today. It is a delightful fancy, in fact, to imagine him growing up in the nineteen-fifties. But he had what many boys lack, a consuming purpose and a family duty to perform. He was bent on justifying his rebel grandfather and Canada is much what it is because of this sense of mission. It was not for nothing that he was named William Lyon Mackenzie.

Most individuals are strange beings, and if like Mackenzie King they kept truthful diaries that would easily be established, King was composed of peculiar parts, but though difficult to reconcile the pattern was not unusual. It may be confusing to recall that he could slit a political opponent's throat with aplomb, and contrast this with the religious turn of his mind. Individuals of lesser stature sometimes manage such contradiction, however, their piety being kept separated from their secular activities.

Undoubtedly the mainspring of Mackenzie King was his feeling of divine selection. Other men have felt themselves to be similarly ordained, or have mesmerized themselves into this belief, and not always to the advantage of the countries they serve. It is also a concept that covers a multitude of sins, as it were, and enables one to sleep peacefully at nights.

Yet it was not enough to feel the mantle of greatness hovering above. Mackenzie King worked for its descent, and this comes as a surprise to those of us not privileged to know him personally. In maturity and at powerful ease as long-time prime minister his aura gave no hint of the anxious and persistent efforts of his earlier years to assist the Lord in bringing about his ordination.

There can have been few aspiring politicians more reluctant to hide their light under a bushel, and his self-seeking importunities have an unpleasant tinge as one reads about them. They paid off, however, to give him the longest reign of any prime minister.

I confess to one distinct reservation, however. Believing as I do that when a nation is at war this is its most crucial hour, I find his role in the first global conflict disturbing. He was but 39 when it broke out, he had been a cabinet minister, yet he retired to the ivory-tower seclusion of research work in a neutral country. War was not his metier, as the second conflict made equally clear, but it is puzzling that a person who apparently hardly lifted a finger to help his country during years of agony should be chosen immediately thereafter to lead a national party and thus be its prospective prime minister.

It would seem that Mackenzie King's belief in his guiding star was well founded.

Letter from London

New Look at Immigration Laws

By RICHARD L. THOMAS

SLOWLY but surely Britain is recovering her international equilibrium; and I am referring to personal relations rather than political or financial. For the first time in more than 19 years Britain will be opened to those who want to live here regardless of nationality, provided that they are able to support themselves. It will end a great deal of immigration hardship about which there have been ever-increasing complaints.

Once again Britain is wide open to authors and artists who wish to live here. They are free to stay indefinitely as long as they do not become a charge on public funds—but after a little while they will have the pleasure of paying British taxation and they may also contribute to the welfare state and be eligible for its benefits. Non-British subjects will not, however, be able to compete for paid employment without a ministry of labor permit, which is very hard to come by except in certain industries where there is an acute shortage of skilled people.

Allied to the widening door of entry there is also planned the legislative means of shutting the door to certain British subjects. The government has resisted the limited demand for restricting the entry of colored British citizens but it has agreed to provide deportation laws to allow criminals to be sent back to their own country. At present Britain is the only nation in the Commonwealth which has no such power. Canada, for example, will exclude a Briton with a criminal conviction and deport a Briton who is convicted in Canada. The United Kingdom has never reciprocated and British jails have quite a useful assortment of Canadians, Australians and West Indians who have fallen foul of the law but will be free to stay when their sentence is served.

It was all part of the idealistic conception of the indivisible Commonwealth. The idea was that no one should be denied admission to these islands who was born in any part of the Queen's realms, quite regardless of health or character. There is no doubt that the privilege has been abused and that we have had one or two visitors who came here when they found the going too warm in their native land—and particularly an efficient assortment of Australian confidence tricksters.

Indeed our police records show an almost national tradition in crime. Australia is famous for the "con men" it sends to us; Canada produces a good line in burglars and safe crackers; Malta seems to specialize in living on the immoral earnings of women; South Africa has produced some good "con men" but not of the Australian quality. The West Indians, only rarely prone to crime, are more modest creatures specializing in petty larceny.

Judges and magistrates have long complained that they have no power to recommend the deportation of British subjects no matter how heinous the crime. That is now to be changed—but whether it will apply to petty crime (as it does with aliens) or only to serious crime remains to be seen. There seems to be a possibility that except in very serious cases British overseas citizens may be allowed one brush with the law without the additional penalty of deportation; but it is certain that anyone with convictions in his own country will have those taken into account.

Very few people regard the proposals as anything but equitable and just. Whatever the arguments may have been, the independence of the Commonwealth has altered the maternal instinct and while we will continue to welcome citizens of good character without restriction or distinction as to color from the Queen's realms we are at least going to insist that they behave themselves.

It will be some time—and maybe never—before the foreigner is able to regard Britain as once again a sure haven in distress. It is difficult to believe these days that Karl Marx wrote most of "Das Kapital" in London; that Lenin was a London resident and that Balkan revolutionaries could always come here. As Mr. Leslie Hale told the House of Commons, we have retrogressed so much that if the twelve apostles presented themselves at Dover only Judas would be admitted because he was sure to have thirty pieces of silver. But at least we have taken a step in the right direction.

Authors, artists, playwrights and composers will again be welcome to live here. Performers, on the other hand, will still have to get a permit and the man in search of a job will find the gates locked unless perchance he or she is willing to tackle domestic service or is skilled in some science of process which will add indirectly to the national wealth. And of course people of independent means will be able to stay as long as they like—which will not be long after the first tax assessment.

Still, it is a sign of welcome return to normality. Traders are now free to make their own bargains with customers. Bankers are yearning to make overdrafts. Home purchase is to be easier. Savings are going up. We have more gold and dollars than for a very long time and now the immigration men are to be more tolerant.

The winds of true British democracy are blowing longer and cleaner than at any time during the last 19 years. Let us hope it stays that way.

The Packsack

of GREGORY CLARK

ON a 250-mile intercity drive my host was a high-pressure business executive, and his car was a luxurious $5,000 smoothie of a vehicle that was hard to hold down to legal speed limits.

With the greatest of ease we waited past everything we overtook on the highway. When we approached town or city and the four-lane highways narrowed into the usual bottle-necks, my sophisticated driver fell in line with the greatest humility.

"Only the local people," he said, "do any fancy speeding or cutting in now."

We came to a 20-mile stretch of mere two-lane highway, and in due time overtook one of those long queues of cars backed up behind a covey of three or four slow-poke trucks and two or three local residents going their local gait. To pass such a queue is quite a trick on a two-lane road, with traffic coming against you. After mooching along at forty, on the tail end of this procession, for five minutes or so, my friend suddenly drew over to the shoulder of the road and stopped our car.

"We'll rest here for five minutes," he said, relaxing. "I find that impatience in driving is the most exhausting thing in the world. So whenever I get on the tail of one of those processions, I simply pull over to the shoulder, rest five minutes, and, by the time I catch up, the procession has thinned out, and everything is smooth sailing again."

He was dead right. We reached the end of the 20-mile two-lane stretch without overtaking the slow poke or having to do any jockeying at all.

Discipline Lacking

Our Soft Society

(From The Fort Erie Letter-Review)

CANADA'S education system and its shortcomings have come in for some pretty searching public scrutiny in recent months. Rarely, however, have the critics of Canadian education stopped to consider the possibility that some of the blame for this country's shortcomings might lie with Canadian society itself.

Timely, therefore, are the remarks of Mr. E. L. Ross, principal of the Collegiate Institute of Guelph, who, in a recent discussion of "The School and Society," pointed out the difficulties that arise in North American education from trying to run "hard schools in soft society." Says Mr.

Ross, "We cannot expect students to put in hard hours of study when they see their fathers going about work in a leisurely fashion and taking half-days off because they have sick leave owing. How can we compete with Russia in a soft society?"

Discipline in the classroom is an indispensable prerequisite of intellectual self-discipline. Without intellectual self-discipline, education itself is in jeopardy. Yet if parents, in their attitude towards their jobs and towards their home responsibilities, manifest a lack of self-discipline, it is hardly fair to lay the blame for education's shortcomings entirely on the shoulders of the teachers.

Right Speech, Wrong Place

(From The Toronto Globe and Mail)

AFTER an experience last week, Alderman J. Gurzon Harvey, of Winnipeg, will probably vary the old adage, making it read: It's not what you say, but "where" you say it.

He was asked by Mayor Stephen Juba to carry the city's greetings to the Canadian Polish Congress, holding a meeting in Winnipeg on the occasion of Polish Independence Day. He appeared as requested, mounted the stage, and delivered an apparently well-rehearsed address. He demanded Polish independence from Russia, and added, in part: "The mayor joins with you in the fervent hope that the lamp of liberty will be kept aflame in your hearts and that your prayers for the future of your homeland will be answered."

The audience, says The Winnipeg Free Press, was open-mouthed and wide-eyed. Not a bit surprising, for Alderman Harvey had dropped in on the wrong meeting and was addressing the Canadian-Soviet Friendship Society, a Communist-backed organization, on the occasion of the anniversary of the Russian Revolution. Moral for politicians: Know your hearers.

Letters to the Editor

De Cosmos Road?

Cedar Hill Cross Road and Cedar Hill Road, two long roads with almost the same name, much travelled and well built up, and the plaint of the mail carriers and delivery men is heard in the land. So also is the continual explanation by dwellers of these areas to every kind of person who has occasion to find a residence or place of business here.

A simple change of name would be the practical solution. Pioneers have been remembered by naming streets, so what of that impressive and Victoria-loving character Amor de Cosmos, your founder? De Cosmos Road would be much shorter than the mouthful Cedar Hill Cross Road, with its following explanation, "Cross Road, not just Cedar Hill. A centennial recognition?"

(Mrs.) O. M. RODSTROM.

Saanich Slighted

I read in the press Nov. 25, an item by Ald. D. J. Proudfoot as follows: "Saanich has no fire protection to speak of, only one-half dozen policemen, if that many, and their garbage disposal is inadequate."

What a statement from a Victoria alderman. JOSEPH LAW, Fire Chief, District of Saanich.

Ballet Still Thrives

In reference to the article in The Islander section of the Colonist on Nov. 9 titled "Covent Garden Seats," I'm sure ballet isn't on the decline. How could anyone say that? I have reason to feel that it is stronger now than ever. It is a culture, and a thing Canada needs.

Perhaps it is a fact that some audiences have declined, but I think that this is hardly reason enough to suggest that ballet also is on the decline. There are those who, although they aren't part of the audience, wish they were. GILL PARSONS.

Duncan, B.C.

Hospital Sweepstakes

In the first place I do not know what gambling is. But I do know that hundreds of thousands of dollars go out of Canada every year to support the hospitals in Ireland.

I say: keep the money to support our hospitals—which are worthy of support. Canadian sweepstakes would easily bring in over $5,000,000 each year. Tickets could be sold for $2 to be divided as follows: $1.50 to the hospitals; 50¢ for prize money, which would consist of five prizes of $10,000, 10 prizes of $5,000, 10 prizes of $1,000, 10 prizes of $500. The seller of each book of 11 tickets would get one free.

The sale of the tickets would be under the supervision of the government and I feel that 85 per cent of our citizens would buy them.

It is my firm opinion that both the members of Commons and the Senate would support Canadian sweepstakes and would make it into law if they were approached. W. J. HYDE.

Victoria Remembers

Another Remembrance Day has come and gone with a demonstration in Greater Victoria of which we are very proud. Now as we "mop up," the committee pauses to consider what has made our effort again successful. There is only one answer—the ever generous and co-operating citizens of our community. It so happens that "our day" falls on a calendar date that overlaps other appeals, and for that reason it could be understood if there was a lessening of financial support for our appeal. This has not taken place, and the final results will reach former high records.

Realizing the heavy call upon our business firms, organizations and the citizens as a whole, we are appreciative of the support given our 1958 campaign.

City Council Briefs

Licence Shift Scored

City council gave its full support yesterday to the Victoria Automobile Club in opposing any movement of the provincial motor vehicle branch to Vancouver. The B.C. Automobile Association recently asked the province to move the branch, according to the club. Council also decided to ask the three other Greater Victoria municipalities and the intermunicipal committee to protest.

Council was informed the police commission had written to Robin Smith, proprietor of the 13-13 club, assuring him that police maintained constant surveillance against illegal drinking in clubs. "This is the fellow who accused me of pussyfooting," Mayor Scourrah said. "I wasn't at all. I've always said to the police chief, and I said yesterday, 'Enforce the law, period.'"

The magistrate appointed to succeed Magistrate Henry Hall when he retires in February undoubtedly will be acceptable to Greater Victoria municipalities, Mayor Percy Scourrah indicated yesterday. He assured Ald. D. J. Proudfoot that while the province made magisterial appointments, "it is generally recognized the appointment is on the recommendation of the mayor." He said he would consult the Reeves of the adjoining municipalities.

Desperate Following Fire

Family of Nine Homeless

A family of nine, whose home was destroyed by fire yesterday, is in desperate need of food and clothing and a place to live.

All the clothing of five young girls, except what they were wearing, was lost when fire broke out in the single-storey, six-room rented house at 1833 Oak Bay Avenue.

Mrs. J. E. Van Nes said her family, which includes five girls and two boys, ranging in age from six months to 12 years, needs clothes and pyjamas, sizes eight through 14. The family is nearly out of food, she said.

With a baby in her arms and two children following, Mrs. Van Nes fled her burning home and ran to the home of a neighbor, Mrs. May Reid, 1079 Amphion, to telephone the fire department.

Flames were licking out the windows and through the roof when city firemen arrived at 10.50 a.m. and chopped holes in the roof to get at the fire. Mrs. Van Nes said she saw smoke and flames coming from the bedroom, grabbed the baby and ran from the house, followed by her son Chris, 5½, and daughter Darleen, 3. The other four children, Tinty, 7; Rhonda, 9; Laverne, 10, and Donald, 12, were in school.

The family had supper at the Reid residence, and spent the night at Craigflower Auto Court when the father could find no other place to stay.

Larry Van Nes, a baker employed by McGavin Bakers, said he was thankful he was able to rent two units at the auto court, after failing to find refuge anywhere else in Victoria.

But he is searching desperately for cheaper accommodation.

Aldermen agreed to a request from the Association of the Plumbing and Pipefitting Industry that the question of standardizing plumbing regulations be referred to the Greater Victoria intermunicipal committee. "This is another reason for amalgamation," smiled Ald. Arthur Dowell.

Parks committee recommendation that more than 120 large trees be removed from city boulevards was regarded with some misgivings by council, which turned it down but referred it back to the committee for further study.

Parks committee chairman Ald. Millard H. Monney said the removal of the trees was part of a replacement program.

Mayor Scourrah said elm trees were beautiful trees, and he didn't think they were dangerous. "They drip sticky stuff," said Ald. Monney.

Turning Back On China 'Insanity'

Canada must not follow the United States in refusing to recognize the Red Chinese Government, Elmore Philpott, well-known Canadian journalist who recently returned from a tour of Red China, said here yesterday.

"Non-recognition of the real government of China is utter insanity," he told the Canadian Club of Victoria during a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel.

He compared the changing China of today to wet concrete which has not yet hardened, and said China could be hardened against Canada. "If we continue to follow the short-sighted policies of John Foster Dulles and the U.S. state department."

"China is awakening from a long, long sleep, and will attain a physical power in keeping with her numbers," the journalist said.

Gold Rush Engineer Dies Here at 88

A pioneer Victoria resident, Andrew Rennie Anderson, 88, who worked as an engineer on gold rush freighters to Alaska in 1898, died in St. Joseph's Hospital Wednesday.

Mr. Anderson came here from Angus, Scotland, in 1884 with his parents, who were pioneer Saanich farmers.

Assize Dates

The 1959 spring criminal assizes will open Feb. 3 in Courtenay and March 10 in Victoria.

After working on coastal freighters, he was employed as an engineer by Victoria Phoenix Brewery in 1918 until his retirement in 1938.

Mr. Anderson was a member of Court Vancouver, AOF, for more than 60 years.

He is survived by a daughter, Jean Emily, at home, 6055 West Saanich Road; three sons, Albert Jenkins of Campbell River and Roy Porteous of Edmonton; 10 grandchildren and three brothers, John Douglas, David and William, all of Victoria.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by McCall Brothers.

Penguin Takes Bow

Seemingly trying to scratch a hard-to-reach place, this penguin is actually taking a bow after a clever performance at London Zoo.

VERNON (CP)—One of the two remaining defendants in the bomb conspiracy trial testified in his own defence Thursday that a policeman offered him an opportunity to get the $25,000 reward posted for information leading to the conviction of those responsible for bombing and attempted bombings in the Okanagan this summer.

Sam Konkin, 28, told the jury in the assize court trial that Cpl. Alex Borodula of the RCMP's Nelson detachment used the $25,000 reward as an statement signifying that three friends of his had been responsible for the bombs.

These were the three youths who Wednesday were acquitted by the jury after being directed to do so by Mr. Justice Arthur Lord. They are John Antueff, John Nazarov and George Woykin.

Sam's brother, Alex Konkin, is the other defendant still on trial. They are charged with conspiracy to make an explosive substance and to cause serious damage and also with unlawfully having an explosive substance in their possession.

Konkin said Cpl. Borodula indicated that the $25,000 could be quietly deposited to Konkin's bank account without anyone knowing anything about it.

Earlier in the trial, Cpl. Borodula testified he had mentioned the $25,000 reward to Sam Konkin but only to ask him if he had heard there was such a reward for information about the June bombing incidents.

Professors Quit Jobs In Protest

WINNIPEG (CP)—Five professors have resigned from United College in protest against a colleague's dismissal.

The board of regents said Thursday that three of the five had demanded the reinstatement of history professor, Harry Crowe, fired in September following a dispute with the college over a private letter, allegedly criticizing college administration.

FIVE LISTED

The five are: Prof. J. H. Stewart Reid, chairman of history department; Prof. K. W. McNaught, associate professor of history; Prof. R. M. Stingle, assistant professor of English; Prof. Fred Harper, assistant French professor, and Prof. Michael Oliver.

The latter two men resigned some time ago in connection with the case but the news was withheld until yesterday.

The three whose resignations were accepted yesterday also criticized the appointment of Prof. Gordon Blake as dean of arts and science.

BACKED MOVE

Prof. Blake backed Dr. W. C. Lockhart, principal, in the firing of Prof. Crowe.

The board said in its statement:

"The reinstatement of Prof. Crowe alone will obviously not satisfy the demands of these three professors and would make untenable the positions of both Dean Blake and Principal Lockhart."

In effect, the real authority in the future administration of the college would become vested in three members of the history department.

It said the conditions they imposed left the board no alternative but to accept the resignations, effective at the end of the current academic year on Aug. 31, 1959.

The disputed letter was written to a colleague by Prof. Crowe during a year's leave of absence to lecture at Queen's University. It reached Dr. Lockhart with an anonymous note attached drawing attention to the contents and saying it had been found in the college halls.

CONTENTS SECRET

A dispute with Prof. Crowe followed and he was dismissed. Contents of the letter were not made public but it was said to have criticized the college administration.

The incident was investigated by a two-man committee of the Canadian Association of University Teachers which released on Monday in Toronto a 78-page report saying Mr. Crowe was a victim of injustice. It said improper use was made of his letter.

Impaired Driver Fined $250

Joseph Henry Rainey, 2310 Richmond Road, was fined $250 in city police court yesterday, after he pleaded guilty to impaired driving Wednesday night.

He was stopped by police while driving north on Blanshard without lights at 8:35 P.M.

Magistrate Henry C. Hall remanded Rainey, a longshoreman who said he needs his car to get to work, to Dec. 5 for consideration of driver's licence suspension.

Allan Readman, 1141 Tormie, was sentenced to six months in Oakalla for creating a public nuisance by falsely reporting his licence plates had been stolen after he had removed them from the car.

The sentence is concurrent with a six-month sentence handed down in another court for contributing to the delinquency of a juvenile.

Gordon James Meyer, Duncan, was fined $100 and ordered to pay $67 damages for smashing an office window at Willis Travel Service, 1006 Douglas, last Friday night.

December Vote Set On Parking Plan

A special city council meeting today will take action to place a $1,000,000 parking building bylaw on the ballots for the Dec. 11 elections.

A bylaw authorizing the borrowing of up to $1,000,000 at was glad the vote would be at the December elections because it was essential the largest number of ratepayers cast their ballots.

For once, he said, the ratepayers of Victoria would be given a chance to judge the residents of the adjoining municipalities to pay their share of the cost of city facilities they used, because the money for repayment of the loan would come from increased parking meter fees.

That should be stressed, said Ald. Millard H. Mooney

the first off-street parking building on View, will be introduced.

DESIRABLE NOW

Mayor Percy Scourrah told council yesterday that it seemed desirable to put the bylaw to the property owners in the December elections because "I have a feeling that if it drags on, the enthusiasm may be gone."

Authority to borrow $1,000,000 was being asked, he said, not because the parking garage and mall would necessarily cost that much, but because council wouldn't want to borrow too little and have to go back to the ratepayers for more.

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow, public works chairman, said he

Rail Men Await Retroactive Pay

MONTREAL (CP) — Payment of retroactive wage increases granted in a new two-year contract to 130,000 non-operating railway workers is to be made as soon as possible, a railway spokesman said Thursday.

The official said it was too early to set a date when the cheques—expected to range from about $70 to $100—will be distributed across Canada.

The retroactive increases are included in the terms of an agreement signed by the railways and representatives of 15 unions bargaining for the non-operating workers. The agreement was reached Wednesday, averting a nation-wide strike threat set for next Monday.

The new contract, to run until Dec. 31, 1959, provides for a three-stage wage increase that works out to a total of about 14 cents an hour.

Phone Rates Up Millions In the East

OTTAWA (CP) — Quebec and Ontario telephone rates will go up on Monday by $17,000,000 annually, the cabinet ruled Thursday in upholding a Board of Transport Commissioners' decision.

The cabinet rejected appeals against the Bell Telephone Company increases, which amount to about four per cent on long distance calls, six per cent on residential rates and nine per cent on business.

The appeals had been heard by the cabinet 10 days ago from 41 Quebec and Ontario municipalities and as interveners—from all provinces except Quebec and Ontario.

Plante Red Hot

By The Canadian Press
Goshe Jacques Plante turned in one of the most dazzling displays of goal-tending seen this season as Howland, looking for with Detroit Red Wings.

Plante, who has been named the National Hockey League's most valuable player, was the star of the game as the Red Wings defeated the Chicago Black Hawks 4-1 in a thrilling contest at the Montreal Forum.

The game was a high-scoring affair, with the Red Wings scoring four goals in the first two periods. Plante's brilliant play kept the Black Hawks from scoring more than once.

Plante's performance was particularly noteworthy in the third period, when he made several key saves to preserve the lead. His goalkeeping was a major factor in the Red Wings' victory.

End of Perfect Pass Play

With a perfect pass play, the Red Wings' attack was headed for a goal. Plante's brilliant play kept the Black Hawks from scoring more than once.

Prairie Roses Best!

By M. V. CHENNUT, FRHS
The other day I got into a typical gardeners' argument with a friend visiting from Edmonton. I must admit I was a bit out of my depth, as I pointed out the western gardeners' preference for American plants, but I was taken down a peg when the visitor got around to roses.

He said, "I know, he asked 'What the finest rose show west of Toronto?' and the city of Edmonton. A lot of people here are interested in 'hiring' my roses safely through a post office."

He went on to explain about setting better bushes, and the best bushes, being those with expanded buds, delayed opening, and coming out in a burst of color. He said that he had a list of 100 roses, and he had to choose from them. He said that he had a list of 100 roses, and he had to choose from them.

It is true, though, that we have a lot of roses here, and we have a lot of roses here, and we have a lot of roses here. It is true, though, that we have a lot of roses here, and we have a lot of roses here, and we have a lot of roses here.

Heated Horseshoe Bay Pool Council's New CIDC Target

City council gave up the idea of trying to persuade the provincial government to purchase Douglas Street bridge from Hill Block yesterday, and instead will seek a contract to demolish swimming pool at Hill Block site.

Bill Alford, Deputy Mayor and Ald. Victor Decker, said they thought a new site for swimming pool was needed.

At his suggestion, council would consider a site for a swimming pool put there by the Capital Improvement Division.

He suggested that council approve the installation of the heated pool at the site of the old swimming pool at Hill Block. The installation would be at the site of the old swimming pool.

He said the large sign was a liability and the work was already being done.

Aim—Buy a Jeep Method—Sale

There are many reasons why you should buy a Jeep. First, it is a rugged, reliable, and economical mode of transport. It is built to last and can handle any terrain. Second, it is a great investment. The resale value of a Jeep is high, and it is a popular choice for many people. Third, it is a fun to drive. The open-top design and the powerful engine make it a joy to drive. Finally, it is a great way to save money. By buying a Jeep, you can avoid the high costs of a car and the maintenance of a truck.

A LOVELIER YOU

By Mary Sue Miller

EYE-CLIK. Properly applied eyeshadow makes the eyes appear larger and more expressive. It is a simple and effective way to enhance your natural beauty. Use a light shade for a soft, romantic look, or a darker shade for a more dramatic effect. Apply the eyeshadow to the eyelids and blend it carefully to avoid harsh lines. The result is a more youthful and attractive appearance.

MURFREESBORO, Tenn. (UPI) - Helicopters joined ground parties yesterday in a wide ranging hunt for a convicted killer who fled from a Georgia road gang, kidnapped and wounded a hostage bound a highway patrolman to a tree and stole the patrol car.

Police believe the fugitive, Spencer Edwards 35, may be planning a siege to free his Edwards, serving a life term for the murder 11 years ago of a Georgia Bureau of Investigation agent, walked off a road gang at Dalton, Ga., Tuesday.

He kidnapped Hubert Turner, 45, and stole Turner's car for a flight into Tennessee.

Highway Patrolman Tom Moore managed to reach a knife in his pocket cut the tape on Turner's hands, and the ex-hostage who was not badly hurt, freed Moore with his hostage last night east of here.

But Edwards shot Turner, overpowered Moore and stole the patrol car. He handcuffed the patrolman to a tree and bound Turner's hands with tape.

Sudanese Military Takeover Saved Nation from Nasser

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) - Sudan's former prime minister says the military coup that ousted him saved his country from a foreign-sponsored move to end Sudanese independence.

The former government chief, Abdullah Khalil, made clear he was accusing President Nasser of trying to annex Sudan to the United Arab Republic.

Khalil said he knew beforehand of Abdudd's coup and approved it.

Khalil called the coup "a great step forward and a clean movement which has no relations with any outside power."

He accused the one Middle Eastern power had been working with some Sudanese army officers for the last three months to engineer a coup to "preclude Sudan's independence."

Asked whether he meant the U.A.R. and Nasser, Khalil said "you mention the aggression in the mid-east and everybody's fingers will point to him."

Signals Fired in Fogg

Archivist Willard Ireland shows rare document signed by Capt. George Vancouver, and expense account of gunners' stores on board the vessel Discovery for October, 1793. (Colonist photo.)

The provincial archives has received a rare document signed by Capt. George Vancouver.

Provincial archivist Willard Ireland yesterday said it was an interesting document, "An Account of the Expense of Gunners' Stores on Board His Majesty's Ship, Discovery, L. Native Daughters of British..."

It is signed on the back by "Gen. Vancouver, Captain" and "Richard Collett, Gunner." Mr. Ireland said it is of particular interest because in addition to referring to gunners' stores, it also contains the salute to the Spanish commander, Don Juan Manuel de Guise, on the occasion of his visit to Vancouver on board the Discovery at Nootka on Oct. 6, 1792, and also a signal fired for the settlement of San Francisco on Oct. 19.
